Gentlemen:-

Kindly let me know the requirements for admission to your society.

Do you issue a publication, or what other advantages would there be for a nonresident member?

Yours truly

Dear Sir:

We have your letter of November 7th and take pleasure in enclosing a card for application for associate membership in our Society. The dues for membership are $5.00 annually, in return for which members receive the publications of the Society, "Numismatic Notes and Monographs " as they are issued during the year. Often in the course of a year these publications if purchased singly would total more than $5.00, which is the case for 1931. Members elected after November 1st are not required to pay the dues for the year unless they desire the publications of the year. Weaare enclosing a list of these monographs and also a list of other publications of our Society.

If you are acquainted with anyone in our organization it might be well to mention the fact and we would also like to have one or two references, perhaps whose who know of your interest in numismatics. If you desire to apply for membership and return the application card before the middle of next week, we will be able to present your name before our Council at its next monthly meeting on Friday, November 20th.

Very truly yours,

HW:JG

Dear Sir:-

Thank you for your kind letter of the 9th.

Without the opportunity of associating with the members of your Society it seems hardly worth while to apply for membership.

There are some of your publications I expect to send for in the near future however.

Because of your experience perhaps you can tell me what coins and medals there are with the Scotch and Gaelic equivalent of my name on them; or where I may secure this information.

Yours very truly.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your favor, we are naturally sorry you do not care to join our organization. I know of no Scotch and there is no Swedish medal or coin bearing the name of Skeen or its equivalent.

Very truly yours,
